JOHNSON REPORTS PROGRESS TO ROOSEVELT

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Assurance that millions of idle wage earners would be back at work under the blue eagle of the NRA by the time snow flies was received directly today by President Roosevelt from the chief of his national recovery program—Hugh S. Johnson.

Personally directing his economic restoration program, the chief executive received a comprehensive statement of progress from Johnson and ordered closer coordination for three of the recovery program—the NRA, and the public works and relief administrations.

This drawing together of the forces aligned against winter unemployment was revealed after a conference at the White House participated in by the president, General Johnson, and Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator.

Coincidently the recovery administration announced approval of modified scale of wages and hours for eight industries under which they may operate pending adoption of permanent codes.

Thousands of Jobs

This brought close to the century mark the number of codes and agreements that have been provided for separate industries in the campaign to blanket the nation with blue eagles by Labor Day.

The agreements were for cigar, sausage casing, office equipment sheet rubber and related sundries manufacturing, cotton compress and warehouse, telephone manufacturing, yeast, and retail confectioners' industries.

While no estimate of employment in these groups was available, the administratoin said thousands of new jobs would be provided.

There still was no official calculation of the number of workers who have been reached by the NRA codes and agreements providing for higher minimum wages and increased employment through curtailed hours.

However, officials pointed out that two of the nation's biggest employers—the retail and construction industries — employing some 5,000,000 workers each in normal times now had scales of wages and hours in effect.

While unemployment in the construction business is heavy, the wage and hour agreements will ..tate, it was pointed out, tow.. increased purchasing pow.. as the federal public works program is expanded.

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight appeared well satisfied with reports of progress on the national recovery drive and other governmental problems which he had received during a busy day of conferences with his trusted advisors.

Starting early in the morning, he celebrated in this way his first day back at the White House after his vacation at Hyde Park.

With Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, he talked over a new plan for coordination of these activities and asked for an early and complete report.

10 TO 15 YEARS

Balfe Macdonald, Flint youth who murdered his mother with a pair of book ends, yesterday was sentenced to serve 10 to 15 years in Jackson prison after he pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter.

PROBLEM YOUTH GIVEN SENTENCE

Balfe Macdonald Will Serve 10-15 Years at Jackson

Flint, Mich., Aug. 14. (AP)—Because Circuit Judge James S. Parker found no indications of premeditation, he permitted 17-year-old Balfe Macdonald to plead guilty to manslaughter late today, for the slaying of his wealthy widowed mother, and sentenced him to serve from 10 to 15 years in Michigan state prison at Jackson.

Earlier in the day, a commission of three physicians appointed by the same court, had reported finding no evidence of insanity in the youthful defendant, "at the time the crime was committed or at the present time."

Balfe will be held in the county jail here for possibly four days authorities said, to straighten out business affairs. Then he will be taken to the prison. There was no recommendation as to the minimum time he should serve, but it was believed here he might become eligible to parole in probably seven years.

Estate Worth $533,000

The business matters which will keep him here for a few days concern the estate of his late father, Bruce Macdonald, former Flint mayor and bank cashier. The estate, appraised only recently at $533,000, is held in trust and under one interpretation of the will could not be divided among the three children until 1947. A suit is now pending to have the estate divided at once among Balfe and his sisters, Mrs. Janet Palmer and Miss Gwenlaurie Macdonald.

Although his plea of guilty today precludes Balfe from receiving any share of his mother's estate, estimated at about $7,000, it is not expected to bar him from sharing in the estate of his father.

Because of court technicalities, Balfe twice entered his plea of

NEW CHIEF OF CUBA DESIRES PUBLIC PEACE

U. S. WARSHIPS ARE SENT TO PREVENT DISORDERS

BY J. P. M'KNIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Havana, Aug. 14 (AP)—Strong measures to curb lawlessness were taken today by the Cuban government as a new cabinet was sworn in and Dr. Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, the provisional president, pleaded for a return of normal conditions.

The U. S. navy destroyer Claxton, one of the two naval craft ordered to Havana by President Roosevelt Sunday for the protection of American life and property, sailed tonight for the naval base at Guantanamo. The destroyer Taylor remained in the harbor.

Machado Estate Sacked

Dispatches from Santiago said that a third destroyer, the Hamilton, ordered to Manzanillo, had landed sailors there today.

Two of the country estates of Gerardo Machado, who fled into exile when his regime collapsed, were sacked. One was at the eastern end of the island near Santiago and the other near this city.

To combat the looting, arson and bloodshed which followed upon the overthrow of the Machado government, a military edict was issued banning manifestations and parades. The carrying of arms was prohibited and troops were ordered to fire on those violating public order.

A plea of Des Cespedes to unite that "no one may doubt, in the future, our democracy's capacity for self government" was contained in an inaugural address delivered shortly after he swore in a cabinet which virtually ignored all the old political parties.

Members of the A. B. C. secret society, long opposed to the Machado rule, were recognized in the new cabinet and were granted portfolios along with the Nationalists, reflecting resentment against the Liberal party, to which Machado was attached, as well as the Popular and Conservative parties.

Hundreds of Havana residents greeted the arrival of the American destroyers Taylor and Claxton, which steamed into the harbor and dropped anchor. The

PROBERS WILL HEAR COUZENS

Vandenberg Also Will Be Called Before Bank Investigators

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP)—Detroit's one-man bank jury which has been in adjournment for several weeks reconvenes tomorrow, and citizens and officials alike tonight were discussing the possibility of verbal fireworks during the remainder of the jury sessions.

Principal among the witnesses will be Senator James Couzens, whose name figured largely in previous testimony concerning the failure of the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce to reopen after the state banking holiday February 14. What the outspoken Michigan senator's testimony will be, no one had determined, but he has promised to make a complete statement concerning his own actions previous and following the bank holiday.

Close Soon Looms

Senator Arthur Vandenberg, too, will be a witness, supplementing Senator Couzens' description of events in Washington leading up to the holiday. Others who are expected to testify during the sessions are Wilson W. Mills, former chairman of the board of the First National, and Clifford B. Longley, former president of the Union Guardian Trust company.

How long the jury session will last has not been determined, but it is expected in official circles that Judge Harry B. Keidan, sitting as the one-man grand jury, will close the investigation within ten days. The findings of the jury are expected to be made at that time, since the comptroller of the currency has indicated that no further action toward aiding the closed banks will be made until the jury findings have been reported.

Discussion still continued as to the possibility of former President Hoover appearing before the grand jury to reveal movements of the administration prior to the bank holiday. Some time ago jury officials reported the presence of Mr. Hoover had been sought before the jury, but no definite word has been received

Federals Nab Harvey Bailey and 10 Others for Urschel Kidnaping And Kansas City Gang Massacre

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14 (AP)—Eleven persons—headed by the notorious Harvey J. Bailey—were held tonight in the federal government's investigation of two major crimes of the year, the machine gun slaying of five men at the Kansas City Union station and the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man.

Department of justice agents moved swiftly about Paradise, Tex., Denver and St. Paul, to strike a major blow at racketeering.

Find Marked Money

"Well, it looks just too bad for me, doesn't it?" commented Bailey, trapped as he slept on a cot before dawn Saturday at a farm near Paradise where officers said Urschel was held by his abductors.

Bailey, 48-year-old bank robber and fugitive from the Kansas penitentiary sought as the leader of the men who killed Frank Nash, convict, and four officers on the Kansas City plaza June 17, was one of six persons arrested at the farm.

Federal operatives said they found on his person marked money which was paid for the ransom of Urschel.

Albert L. Bates, 39, ex-convict arrested in Denver, was identified by department of justice agents as George Bates, a suspect in the Urschel kidnaping. Bates is a fugitive from the Van Buren county jail in Paw Paw, Mich., he escaped Christmas Day, 1931.

Four men were held in St. Paul upon orders of Werner Hanni, chief of the United States bureau of investigation, who said they will be charged with conspiracy in the Urschel abduction.

Hanni said the four were linked with the passing of part of the money paid for release of the wealthy oil operator.

Those held were Sam J. Kronick, head of a barber supply and cosmetic concern; Charles Wolk, transfer company official; Wm. Nelson, unemployed truck driver, all of Minneapolis, and Sam Kozberg, official of a St. Paul manufacturing drug concern.

Sleeping with firearms beside him and a motor car stocked for flight, Bailey made no resistance when the raiding party struck at the Texas farm house.

Finger prints of the multi-millionaire Oklahoman were found on a bed, a bench and a water glass in a tenant house on the farm in which officials said Urschel was held prisoner until ransomed by his family. First announcement of the arrest came today from Homer Cummings, the attorney general, at Washington.

Alongside him on the cot Bailey had a machine gun, an automatic rifle and an automatic pistol, but when he was awakened it was with the muzzle of a machine gun in the hands of Gus Jones, head of the San Antonio office of the department of justice, prodding him.

Bailey made no effort at resistance.

"Well, it looks like it is too bad, doesn't it?" Bailey said as he sat up and rubbed his eyes.

"Yes, it is too bad for you," replied Frank J. Blake, chief of the department of justice agents at Dallas.

"If any shooting starts we are going to kill you," Bailey was warned.

Jones said Bailey was the calmest prisoner he ever arrested.

Warden Lawes Urges on Senate Group Use of Martial Law

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Everything from public flogging for criminals to martial law was seriously urged upon the senate subcommittee on racketeering today as it held its first open regional meeting.

A notable line of police and prison experts gave their views to Senator Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the committee, and virtually all of them were agreed that drastic criminal reforms were necessary to stamp out rackets.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison wanted not only immediate martial law, but virtual elimination of state lines with full police powers conferred upon the federal government.

U. S. "Scotland Yard"

Former Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York City advocated "20 lashes with 20 years" for hardened criminals. District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain of Manhattan Borough, New York, urged that prosecutors be given the power of subpoena and the right to question witnesses under oath in private.

Senator Copeland laid emphasis throughout the hearing on an American "Scotland Yard." He asked every witness if he favored such a bureau, explaining that it would be a federal central coordinative agency. Most of the witnesses thought it a good idea, though some warned that local authorities would resent too much federal interference in crime investigation.

Some suggestions given to the committee and their proponents were:

A central coordinating crime bureau administered by the federal government—by Joseph B. Keenan, special assistant to the attorney general.

Federal control of firearms, and universal fingerprinting—by

Bullet Proof Cage Offered For Sale

Flint, Aug. 14 (AP)—More than a bullet-proof cashier's cage, the Vernon State Bank needs a bullet-proof cashier. And so, in a local newspaper, the bank is offering its cashier's cage, guaranteed bullet-proof, for sale in a classified advertisement.

CHICAGO POLICE OFFICER KILLED

Tenth to Die Since New Year's; One Gunman Is Captured

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—The tenth Chicago policeman to be killed since January 1 fell today before the pistols of two robbers who obtained $610 from a currency exchange.

A few minutes later squads of police cornered four men in an alley. Three of them escaped but the fourth, identified as Morris Cohen, 37, was wounded slightly and captured.

The victim, Joseph P. Hastings, 37, died without a shot being fired from his pistol, but a bystander snatched up the weapon and fired several shots as the bandits fled.

The robbers fired a dozen shots in exchange, endangering the lives of two attendants and several customers. Police said they learned operators of the exchange were cashing unemployment relief checks—intended for groceries and necessities—into cash at a 15 per cent fee.

The killing came at the height of a court campaign against gangsters and gunmen—a drive started two weeks ago when Policeman John G. Sevick was killed by a robbery defendant in a courtroom. Two policemen have been killed since that time.

As a high spot in the campaign today, Judge Benjamin Epstein sentenced three youths to 100 years in prison each for killing Dr. Bernard F. Garnitz, who was lured from his home and murdered when he resisted robbery. The youths are Joseph Borowy, 17, Charles Kubala, 17, and Matthew Novak, 25. They pleaded guilty and asked for the court's mercy, but received none.

ROAD PROJECTS TO BE RUSHED

69 Jobs To Be Laid Before Administrative Board Today

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—Impetus was given today to Michigan's public works program with the approval by the highway committee of the state administrative board of 69 road projects involving an expenditure of $3,215,000.

The state's share of federal funds devoted to highway public works is $12,736,227 to be spent during the current and next construction season. Welfare officials estimate the program will give employment to 20,000 men.

Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner issued a public plea for owners of desired property and civic organizations cooperate with the state in its effort to obtain right-of-way for

CONVICTS RIOT, THREE ESCAPE

All Are Captured; Guards Hurl Tear Gas Bombs at Stampeders

Boston, Aug. 14 (AP)—A hundred convicts serving terms for felonies rioted at the house of correction on Deer Island, in Boston harbor, today and three alleged ringleaders escaped but later were captured.

Guards hurling tear gas bombs suppressed the riot. A fourth prisoner who attempted to flee the island was caught before he could reach the narrow belt of water separating it from the mainland.

Those who made their way to the mainland before being captured were James J. O'Hara, alias Badger; John Kowalais and John F. McDonough. O'Hara, who apparently had made good his getaway after his companions were caught, was found hiding under a house in Winthrop several hours later and surrendered without a struggle. Kowalais and McDonough were severely beaten in a fight with a policeman and a guard who cornered them.

General Confusion

Officials said the trouble was instigated by a group of 100 convicts, all serving terms for felonies, who had been transferred to the island institution from the Concord reformatory.

The officials said O'Hara, Kowalais and McDonough apparently had obtained liquor from some source and after a series of arguments with guards and other prisoners went to the dining room where the inmates, numbering more than 100, were gathered.

At a signal tables were upset, dishes hurled and general confusion was caused. While guards threw gas bombs to quiet the milling mass of men the three ran into the yard.

There they met John Graetorex, another inmate who was driving a truck. They struck him with an iron bar and forced him to drive them to the mainland across Shirley gut, which can be forded at low tide.

During their ride down main street at Shirley Point they were halted by William J. McCuster, a Winthrop policeman off duty. With drawn pistol he held the fugitives at bay until joined by Andrew McCarthy, a deputy master of the institution.

Kowalais and McDonough then showed fight and were badly beaten by the officers. O'Hara improved his time by making good his escape.

State Treasurer Of Kansas Is Accused

Topeka, Aug. 14 (AP)—Gov. Alf. M. Lanson late today ordered the prosecution of Tom B. Boyd, state treasurer, as the result of prolonged investigations conducted by state and federal officials into the $1,000,000 Kansas bond forgery scandal.

Goodell said he would proceed under a statute relating to the handling of state funds, the exact charge to be made public later.

3% CHARGE ON SALES UNFAIR FOR INDUSTRY

STACK, FITZGERALD DECLARE RULING UNREASONABLE

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—The state today appeared amenable to reopening the entire field of exemptions to its new three per cent retail sales tax.

Two of the three members of the state board of tax administration expressed themselves as in favor of a further review of exemption applications after a conference with a dozen Michigan manufacturers. Meanwhile farmers pressed their demand for exemptions, urging a special session of the legislature, if necessary, to achieve their goal.

John K. Stack, Jr., auditor general and member of the tax board, said he will ask for an immediate review of all exemption applications. He was joined by Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, and member of the board, in declaring the sales tax unreasonable on processing products used in industry. State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry, the third member of the board, was not present at the conference.

Suggests Test Case

A suggestion by James E. Mogan, managing director of the tax board, that manufatcurers institute a test court case in an effort to define the term, "retail sale," was rejected by the delegation. The manufacturers said such litigation would put them in an unfavorable position with the public.

Mogan contended that if the board granted exemptions the sales tax act would be jeopardized on the constitutional ground of possible class legislation. "If we go into court on the act, I had rather the litigation be strictly on the merits of the act itself rather than on the interpretations of the tax board," Mogan said.

Manufacturers contended the tax on processing products placed Michigan industry in an unfair position with respect to competitors from other states. They said the NRA program had increased their costs from 10 to 25 per cent and that the sales tax would be an "unreasonable" addition to their business burden.

Mogan denied the claim by Rep. Tracy W. Southworth, administration floor leader in the house, that the board had agreed to abide by a resolution interpreting the sales tax. The legislature adopted such a resolution but the board two weeks ago virtually ignored the measure by setting aside all exemptions.

Stack insisted that the board should review the entire list of applications for exemptions before making any further decisions. Both he and Fitzgerald intimated that farmers, however, will lose their plea for exemptions on feed ferti-

Poison Booze Trial Is Ordered Closed

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—The court today ordered a jury to acquit five Philadelphia men charged with distributing poison alcohol that caused the deaths of 12 persons and blindness to several others.

The prosecuting attorney previously admitteed he had not sufficient evidence on which to press for a conviction.

The five were arrested July 26 after a city-wide search for the men who stole a quantity of alcohol left as a decoy by one gang of bootleggers to stop another from raiding a so-called "drop."

The stolen alcohol was made up into bottles of supposed whisky, which was widely distributed through the south and west sections of the city.

SEEK STRANGER FOR 2 MURDERS

Aged Couple Found Dead in Kentucky; Home Is Ransacked

Scottsville, Ky., Aug. 14 (AP)—A stranger who went to the isolated New Roe section of Allen county yesterday to negotiate concerning the freeing of two prisoners from Eddyville penitentiary was sought tonight as the slayer of Mr. and Mrs. James Donnell, aged couple found dead in their home today.

The body of Donnell, 72, was found in the kitchen with a bullet wound in the chest. The body of his wife, 68, was in the barn with a bullet wound in the head. Officers who investigated said she apparently had fled from the house after her husband was shot.

The Donnells were robbed a year ago of $2,300 concealed in their home by three men, Fortune Johnson, Oscar Rippy and John France. They were captured later at Terre Haute, Ind., and $1,500 was recovered. The three pleaded guilty and are serving five year terms at Eddyville.

Commonwealth's Attorney Frank R. Goad said his investigation of today's killings revealed that a motorist had asked Rafe Johnson, father of one of the convicted men, concerning the route to the Donnell home 15 miles from here. He said he wented to ask the Donnells to agree to recommend a parole for Fortune Johnson and Rippy in return for $800 cash, the difference between the amount stolen and the amount returned.

Neighbors of the Donnells said they saw an automobile answering the description of the stranger's leave the vicinity at daybreak. The bodies were found at 10 a. m. the home had been ransacked. The license numbers on the man's machine had been stolen in Bowling Green, inquiry revealed.

guilty today, which made three times in all he had sought, in his own words, to "get it over with."

Last week, the youth entered a guilty plea to the original murder charge, over the objections of his attorney, Clifford A. Bishop, but Judge Parker refused to accept it pending a determination of the boy's sanity.

After his first plea of guilty to manslaughter today, Judge Parker asked that evidence be introduced bearing on the possibility of premeditation in commission of the crime.

"When there is no premeditation the crime cannot be murder in the first or second degree," the court said after taking the evidence. "We have in this case a youth who quarreled bitterly with his mother and killed her. I will accept the manslaughter plea."

He added, after pronouncing sentence, that "a greater punishment will be the thought through the years that you caused your mother's death."

Balfe sobbed occasionally during his appearance in court, but showed no signs of breaking down. He left the court room with quivering lips and tear dampened eyes.

Racketeers Known

Tomorrow Copeland will listen to legal suggestions. He announced that the full committee would convene in Chicago early in October and determine then, after studying the situation of Kansas City and other metropolitan centers what specific studies are needed.

"This is war," Lawes declared in demanding federal regulation of anti-crime activities. "If we don't have some sort of martial law to stop crime we'll have lynch law and then we will have to have martial law.

"We know who the racketeers are. So do the police. They are affiliated with the politicians and some of the politicians are racketeers."

"We could stamp this out in 60 days," the noted prison official shouted in closing.

Challenged by Robert Darue, bar association racket committeeman, on this point, Lawes replied:

"If I were Mussolini I could do it in 30 days."

"There is no other way," the warden answered to Senator Copeland's question as to whether Lawes would favor martial law as a "last resort."

"I suppose we could use the same thing against financial racketeers?" Copeland continued.

"It wouldn't be a bad idea," Lawes answered.

Chain Stores Are Urged To Remain Open As Before

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—In a communication to members of the chain food and grocery distribution industry, F. H. Massman, president of the National Chain Store association, today asserted that the 48 hour maximum employe work week basis under the food and grocery code "must not be confused with the store operating hours."

He quoted President Roosevelt and National Recovery Act administrators as emphasizing that it is the administration's desire that store hours in vogue prior to June 16, 1933, be continued as nearly as possible and that if any change is made the minimum should not be below 53 hours per week in the food and grocery industry.

The communication urged members of the association to give effective cooperation to the recovery plan by refusing to fall in line with any local store hour plan that goes below the stipulated basis, declaring "it is the intention that food and grocery distributors employ more help to take care of our business for the normal operating week."

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—Crediting much of the increase to the adoption of the cotton textile code, Harrison P. Shedd, vice president of Marshall Field & Company's wholesale department, announced today that employment in the company's mills was approximately 70 per cent higher than an August 14, 1932.

the projects. He pointed out that federal funds cannot be expended for right-of-way.

"This means that funds for such right-of-way purchases are necessary must come from other sources," the statement said. "The state has about $1,500,000 that might be used for all right-of-way purchases in connection with the entire federal program including later approvals. Of the 69 projects thus far approved just 25 are clear for right-of-ways. Others are now being worked upon.

"The owners of property involved and the local civic groups should make every effort to arrive at a plan for installment payment extending over a period of years. Otherwise some of these projects inevitably will be held up."

The highway committee approved the award of seven construction contracts totaling more than $275,000 at its meeting today.

Among the contracts awarded was the following:

Gogebic county—515 mile of 20-foot pavement on US-2, relocation at Montreal river bridge at Ironwood, to I. W. Brumm, Marquette, $13,026.

NRA TO HELP MILLIONS NOW WITHOUT JOBS

He kept a close watch on the Cuban situation and his official advisors expressed confidence tonight that the warships could be withdrawn early from Havana where they were sent for protection of American citizens.

The president surveyed the recent London economic conference with Chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee, and chairman McReynolds of the house foreign affairs committee, two of the American delegation.

Senator Pittman, who proposed the silver agreement reached at the parley, expressed the view that the recessed London conference will not reconvene until the world is again on a basis more nearly normal. This view was believed to reflect the president's ideas.

Late in the day Mr. Roosevelt went over the problem of controlling production of American wheat and cotton to the needs of consumers in a conefrence with his agricultural chieftains.

General Johnson was preparing a more detailed report on the complicated task of putting American industry on a new basis of shorter working hours and higher wages.

Felonious Driving Charge Launched Against Father

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—Everett Perkins, whose wild ride from Champion to the entrance of the Ishpeming tourist park Sunday night resulted in painful injury to two of his children, Darrell, 9, and Gertrude, 18, and endangered the lives of ten other passengers when his automobile crashed into a fence, overturned and caught fire, was bound over to circuit court today on a felonious driving charge. He will be arraigned Monday.

The complaint was made by John Spencer and William Irish, Marquette state troopers, who pursued Perkins in an effort to get the drunken driver to stop. Irish reported that Perkins was driving between 60 and 65 miles an hour.

Doctors said that unless infection sets in Darrell's arm, from which much flesh was torn, it will not be necessary to amputate it. Gertrud's left arm was fractured above the elbow. Both will have to remain in the hospital about a month.

lizer, equipment, and so forth.

Howard A. Coffin, Detroit industrialist, told the board "the best thing you could do would be to define the term 'sale at retail,' immediately."

Farmers Unreasonable

The Farm Bureau Services, Inc., representing 325 formers' co-operative associations in the state, made public a resolution urging Governor Comstock to call a special session of the legislature, if necessary, to correct "injustices" in the operation of the sales tax.

"We recommend that the board reopen the matter immediately and grant farmers an interpretation not less liberal than that given manufacturers," the resolution said.

The resolution cited the recent statement of the tax board that "there are apparently injustices in the collection of the tax," and declared "it is the responsibility of the governor to see that such injustices are corrected, even to calling a special session of the legislature, if necessary."

Stack referred to the farmers' application among the most unreasonable that had been brought before the board.

Mogan announced today that 59 field men had been appointed and will begin inspection of tax violations, in about two weeks. Their activities for "about two months," he said, will be to check on retailers not filing returns. No audits of retailers books are anticipated during that time.

First returns are due tomorrow. Those from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Monroe counties are to be sent to the Detroit sales tax office while those for the rest of the state go to Lansing. Licenses will be mailed those making returns for display in their establishments.

Hosiery Workers Back On The Jobs

Reading, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Smiling and shouting cheery "hellos" to their bosses, hosiery workers went back to their jobs today after having been on strike two months for union recognition.

First of the 10,000 idle employes to report were those in the key positions, such as the winders and silk throwers, whose work must be completed before other departments can operate.

More than 700, in military formation, marched into the Berkshire knitting mills, largest of the 33-odd factories whose $31,000,000 production was tied up by the strike, ended by the national labor board.

Union leaders estimated some 2,000 returned today.

Beauty Operators Kill Dollar Wave

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The dollar wave is outlawed in a code adopted by beauty shop operators tonight. The minimum cost of a permanent wave, if the code is accepted by NRA officials at Washington will be approximately $7.50 in the larger cities. Elimination of cut-rate prices is designed to prevent unfair competition.

Under the code, a finger wave would cost at least 65 cents and a manicure 60 cents.

Roosevelt Warns Johnson To Rest

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, received orders today from President Roosevelt to quit working so hard and take a rest. He was warned that he would be fired if he didn't.

"Are you going to do it?" Johnson was asked by newspapermen as he left the White House.

"No," he replied as he hurried back to his office. "I'm getting along fine."

Accident Is Fatal To Menominee Man

Menominee, Aug. 14 (Special)—Loss of his right leg, suffered when he was thrown under a box car while switching in the yards of the M. & M. Box company at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, proved fatal to Vital A. Mathy, 1127 Holmes avenue, veteran switchman for the Chicago and North Western Railroad company, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in St. Joseph's hospital. The fatal injury occurred when Mr. Mathy, who was riding on the side of a box car clinging to the handles, was brushed from the car by a pile of lumber stacked near the track. The leg was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary, but the shock proved too great and death claimed him after his son, Raphael, had given a pint of blood for a transfusion in an effort to save his father's life.

Federal Aid Funds May Help Return Men To Colleges

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The administration is seriously considering a plan to send college boys back to school through federal relief funds.

Robert M. Hutchins, president of Chicago university, is sponsoring the campaign in the interest of taking youths out of the contest for jobs by married men.

The proposition was put up to President Roosevelt today in a conference with Hutchins, Harry L. Hopkins, director of the federal relief, and Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator.

The president is weighing the question of use of government money. Johnson who is trying to make new jobs and Hutchins who is trying to relieve those without jobs are inclined to approve it, it is understood in official quarters.

The proposal will go before the recovery council tomorrow.

Chicago Expects To Pay Back Wages

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly today received a ruling from J. F. T. O'Connor, United States comptroller of currency, that he said likely would lead Chicago out of its muddled financial situation and permit speedy payment of school teachers' and employes' back salaries.

O'Connor, the mayor said, wrote him that national banks now may purchase city and state tax anticipation warrants without limit. Previously national banks were permitted to invest only 15 per cent of capital and 25 per cent of their surplus in such warrants.

Mayor Kelly said with the restriction removed the city was confident that it could dispose of its warrants.

State Wineries In Arkansas Suggested

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 14 (AP)—A proposal to put state agricultural colleges in the wine business was placed before the state senate in a bill today.

The measure would authorize college boards of control to contract with the federal government for financing self liquidating projects, presumably putting wineries in this class.

Eight-Day Bride Killed While Her Husband Looks On

Los Angeles, Aug. 12 (AP)—While her husband looked on, 25 year old Harriet Allen, a bride of eight days, was shot and killed today. Police identified the slayer as Bruce Moore, 25, her former sweetheart, who shot and fatally wounded himself.

Mrs. Allen was shot five times in the back. Her husband told authorities he and Moore had been suitors for Mrs. Allen's hand and that nine days ago she had told Moore she would not marry him. Eight days ago she married Allen in Santa Ana.

Allen said Moore came to their home this morning while they were sleep. Mrs. Allen was awakened by a knock at the rear door, and shortly after she rushed into their bedroom to inform him that Moore was in the house, she was fired upon.

Allen said that as his wife slumped to the floor dead, Moore shot himself in the head. He died a few hours later in a hospital.

He said he counted on the "efficacious collaboration of all the public powers and national institutions."

Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, paid a formal visit to the new president and his cabinet after the opening ceremonies. He was accompanied by Lieut. Col. Thomas N. Gimperling, military attache, and the commanding officers of the two destroyers.

The thousands who had gathered to hear the president's address cheered the ambasasador as he arrived and renewed the demonstration as he departed.

Supporters of Machado, who escaped to Nassau, the Bahamas, followed his lead by fleeing for their lives in every direction. Alberto Herrera, Machado's war secretary and provisional president for a few hours Saturday before De Cespedes took office, fled with his wife and sons and their families on the United Fruit steamship Quirigua, bound for Jamaica.

Strike Generally Ends

General Julio Sanguily became the new chief of staff of the Cuban army and it was under his authority that repressive measures were issued.

Today generally marked the end of the country-wide strike which for two weeks had paralyzed commerce and threatened to bring famine in many sections. Reports from Santiago said the strike continued there with only a few business houses open. Some downtown stores were resuming business here and public employees, street car and railroad workers, taxi-drivers and factory workers went back to their jobs.

A delegation from the committee which organized the strike called on De Cespedes and was told the new government would concede the workers' requests.

The University of Iowa will play four conference football games on enemy fields this fall.

Group Pacts May Lower Trade Bars

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

London (AP)—If the world cannot proceed as a whole toward economic disarmament, various groups of countries may at least take steps toward increasing trade between themselves.

It was with this thought uppermost that the world economic conference suspended its efforts to reduce trade barriers, and already the United States has started preliminary discussions looking toward closer trade relations with other American nations; the gold bloc countries have been drawn closer together and Britain has cemented the Ottawa pacts with her dominions with a monetary agreement.

Regional Units

Does this mean that the world conference started a movement to partition the world into regional economic units? The opinions of the experts vary, but the Americans have taken the position that such regional economic cooperation as may be fair to the rest of the world can only serve to advance general world prosperity.

The nations have before them what may be considered the American delegation's magnum opus, Secretary Hull's tentative resolution presented as a basis of studying the trade barrier problem during the conference recess. And this specifies that positive action should take the form of bilateral (between two nations) or plurilateral (between several nations) negotiations.

'Most Favored Nation'

It was recognized that regional agreements might become dangerously discriminatory, and for this reason the American tariff experts waged a successful fight for maintenance of the "most-favored-nation clause" as a cardinal principle of commercial treaty making.

Under the general operation of this clause one country say Denmark, in making a treaty with Sweden, would agree that in making any further treaty with a third nation, it would grant Sweden such favors as it would grant to the third.

The general effect of the clause is a progressive reduction of trade barriers as new trade agreements are made.

We have entirely too many governments in the United States. Nobody knows exactly how many there are, but counting the federal, state, county and city governments, the school districts, the moth and mosquito districts, and whatnot, we have a total of between 250,000 and 500,000 governments.

WELCOME DRUGGISTS

DRUGGISTS of the upper peninsula, with their wives and friends, will come to Escanaba today to attend the annual convention of the Upper Peninsula division of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association. In addition candidates for examination as registered pharmacists, residing in the peninsula, will come here for their tests, which will extend through three days, under the direction of the state board of pharmacy.

Today's convention will bring to Escanaba, it is expected, approximately 150 people from all sections of the peninsula and druggists of this city, in cooperation with the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and public spirited citizens, will endeavor to make the gathering not only one of value for the participants, but an occasion of real pleasure.

Escanaba last week had the pleasure of entertaining delegates to three conventions in this city and the coming of peninsula druggists this week, permits the hanging out of Escanaba's "Welcome" signs, backed by a spirit of hospitality, on the part of Escanaba's people, that has been often tried and never yet found wanting.

PUT DOWN "RACKETS"

THE National Administration in its proposed drive on crime deserves the approval of every law-abiding citizen in the country. If the truth was known a goodly share of our economic ills could be traced to the effects of crime.

Formerly the bootlegger, the rum runner and the hi-jacker filled our prisons and the attempt to curtail their activities has added to the burden of the taxpayer. The illegal liquor trade no longer furnishes the profits of other days and now "rackets" and kidnaping are resorted to extensively to extort money from the public.

Little business and big business alike pay tribute either directly or indirectly to the "rackets." It is reported that "rackets" are invading public enterprises and that the highway industry, a billion dollar a year business, is not immune from their nefarious activities. It is extremely difficult to secure authentic information but reports from unconfirmed sources indicate that certain rackets have been successful in "muscling" in on the paving industry in certain sections. Rumor has it now that the Capone Syndicate is keeping a watchful eye on highway work in Michigan, especially on certain types of pavement which have not been used extensively in the state heretofore.

With the spending of large sums of money by the federal government and the states for public works it is a foregone conclusion that the "rackets" will attempt to secure their share, and only the most prompt action by the law enforcing agencies of the country can prevent the underworld from securing a stranglehold on all industries.

CARELESSNESS SOMEWHERE

THREE human lives were claimed, within a period of two days, on highways in this vicinity last week. Two lives were snuffed out when a man and a boy leaped from a wagon, directly in front of a speeding automobile, near Wilson, on Friday. On Saturday night another met instant death under the wheels of an auto, while crossing the pavement near the old Flat Rock dam.

No matter how legally blameless may be the drivers of the two two automobiles figuring in these two fatal accidents, there's no denying the fact that three people are dead. Certainly there was carelessness involved somewhere. It may have been entirely embodied in the actions of the three victims, but there cannot but exist at least a suspicion that every possible measure of care and caution was not used by the drivers of these cars at the instant of the accidents.

Every man who drives a car will have every measure of sympathy for these drivers who are involved in this unusual series of accidents, for most of us can appreciate their agony of mind and genuine remorse, even though they may be legally blameless. But, certainly, such a record can not be permitted to continue.

The average individual at the wheel of an automobile, it is believed, has little appreciation of the responsibility that is his when he goes out on the highway. He has a powerful and death dealing machine under his control and he, in reality, has a much greater responsibility than the pedestrian, who under ordinary circumstances, has an equal right to the use of the highways.

There must be driven into the mind of every individual who drives a car an appreciation of this responsibility, if most of such accidents are to be kept from the record. There is no man-made law that can be devised to bring this about—it must come through the voluntary action of all automobile drivers.

C. F. SMITH POST PASSES

THAT "thin blue line" of veterans of the Civil War came to the vanishing point in Escanaba on Saturday when Joseph Rubens, last surviving member of C. F. Smith post, Grand Army of the Republic, answered the final roll call. With the death of Mr. Rubens, in all of Delta county there is but one remaining living veteran of the Civil War,—Edward Rabideau, of Maple Ridge township.

The passing of Mr. Rubens, on Saturday, cancelled the charter of what was once one of the largest G. A. R. posts in the peninsula. For many years that organization, under the leadership of the late Judge Emil Glaser and the late Maj. A. H. Rolph, exerted a virile and salutatory influence upon this community. The passing years gradually decimated the ranks of the post and with the death of the last surviving member, the organization passes into history.

It was highly fitting that a man of strong character and possessed of lofty patriotic motives, such as was Mr. Rubens, should have been permitted to proudly carry the colors of his post and his nation, in memory of his fallen comrades, to the very end.

The death of Mr. Rubens is more than the death of an individual; it is the death of a formerly militantly patriotic organization in this community.

STEEL HOLDS FIRM

IN SPITE of influences that were expected by authorities, to slow up the steel industry, at least in line with seasonal recessions of former years, production was maintained at a 54 per cent level through July and the first two weeks of August, according to Steel, official organ of the industry. While present demand for steel products represents requirements specified late in last month, in anticipation of price advances, the average production is holding up much better than the average so far this summer.

Discussing the favorable conditions surround the industry Steel says:

A 28 per cent gain in steel ingot production in July lifted the daily average to 128,152 gross tons, highest since June, 1930. A July increase not only is this instance follows the 34 per cent gain in June over May. The country so far this year probably has produced more steel ingots than in all 1932; for the first seven months 12,193,002 tons, within 1,129,831 tons of the preceding 12.

The more recent slowing trend is manifest to some extent in the United States Steel Corp.'s unfilled orders, which after moving up three consecutive months dropped 86,546 tons, or 4 per cent, to 2,020,123 tons, July 31. A considerable portion of this reduction is due to cancellation of contracts booked at lower prices and not fully specified as required by Aug. 1, this resulting in more solid orders on actual consumer demand. Tonnage since written into new contracts replacing the old in many instances exceeds the amounts canceled.

Uncertainty with respect to prices is contributing to an important extent to the present dearth of new buying. Large consumers, faced with the prospect of paying the same prices as small buyers, are delaying fresh commitments. Action this week on the steel code placing the industry on a more uniform basis is expected to have a stabilizing effect.

Uncertainties with respect to industrial codes are exerting a dampening influence on federal and state construction work, closing dates for many jobs throughout the country being postponed. Of the structural shape awards for the week, 7143 tons, 4855 tons are for breweries.

Railroads are laying more rails, from their stocks, than indicated by current purchases. New York Central is reported releasing 8,000 to 9,000 tons of rails to Chicago mills; Burlington has placed 3500 tons. Of railroad freight cars, steelmakers estimate 15 per cent are in urgent need of heavy repairs; material inquiries are improving. Baltimore & Ohio has closed for one-third of its inquiry for 2500 tons of car parts. Eastern roads are formulating purchase programs, which may include 250 locomotives.

LOVE OF EVE

(By NEA Service) BY LUCY WALLING

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS — pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, secretly marries DICK RADER, a construction engineer. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

The same day Eve learns that she is to go to New York for the store and must leave that night. Dick takes her to the station but throughout the week in New York she has no word from him. The days there are busy. She meets THERON REECE who is much attracted by her and she visits IRENE PRENTISS, a former schoolmate who is playing the stock market and advises Eve to do the same.

On her return to Lake City Dick takes Eve to the fashionable Hotel Miramar where he has engaged a suite.

At the office MARYA VLAD, fashion artist, and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer, are eager to hear of Eve's trip. There is a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN who threatens to become a trouble-maker.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

Eve and Dick stayed at the Hotel Miramar for a week. They usually dined in the marine dining room overlooking the lake. Eve enjoyed the formality of their surroundings and each evening wore a different costume. She had a flair for clothes and was aware that, though many of the women about her were gowned more expensively, few wore smarter costumes. And because she was happy her eyes glowed and smiles curved her lips. When she looked at Dick, correct in his severe evening clothes, she was proud of him.

"Dick," she began enthusiastically the fourth night of their stay at the Miramar, "I've an idea!"

"You're full of ideas," teased Dick. "What is it now?"

"Let's always dress for dinner. There's no reason why people who have fortunes should monopolize all the niceties of life. It's fun to change into evening clothes for dinner. Don't you think so?"

"M-m," answered Dick.

"Then we'll do it always! Oh, Dick, I'm so glad you see things as I do. You're a perfect dear to agree with me all the time! I'd hate to have just an ordinary husband. You will let me plan everything the way I want it, won't you, dear?"

"M-m," answered Dick.

After dinner he suggested going out to watch the skating. They put on warm wraps and trudged through the snow over the deserted bridle path to the lake.

"Reminds me of the lake at home," said Dick. "I'd like to be out on the ice now. Haven't skated for 10 years. My old skates got too short and I never seemed to have money to buy new ones."

"Oh, Dick," Eve interrupted him. "I've just had a grand idea for the lead for my column tomorrow! I can scarcely wait to write it. See the red and white outfit that girl is wearing? It gave me the idea. Here she comes now. Why, as I live and breathe, it's Gladys Rippel! Dick, let's leave. If we want to keep our marriage a secret we can't afford to be meeting people we know."

Eve turned back toward the hotel and Dick followed reluctantly. He would have enjoyed skating in the moonlight on the frozen edge of the lake.

He took Eve's arm to keep her from slipping on the icy walk. "Eve, sweetheart," he said, "I don't like keeping our marriage a secret. As far as I'm concerned there are few to whom it matters, but you, dear, have so many friends in the city that it is bound to cause complications."

"I'm thinking of my position," she said. "We'll announce it later." With this Dick had to be content.

Each morning he drove to "the job" before 7:30. Eve, in her smart black business clothes, boarded an eight o'clock trolley. She never glanced at the morning Times until she reached the older district of the city where the streets were lined with stores and office buildings. Instead she looked at the beautiful homes along the boulevard over which she rode. Eve wondered about the people who lived in those houses and was sure she could never be contented until she had such a home. The apartment at the hotel would do, however, she told herself, until she and Dick could afford a home like one of those.

Her promotion at the office had not brought with it the satisfaction Eve had expected. She had not realized how much Alice Marshall had smoothed her way and made things easy for her.

Eve was particularly annoyed by Barnes' habitual tardiness in deciding how much space was to be devoted to each advertisement. This delay often made it necessary for her to prepare her copy at a speed making careful work impossible. Inevitably there came a day when she was obliged to remain an hour over time.

True, Barnes and Arlene were also detained, but that did not lessen Eve's resentment. She knew that if Barnes had been prompt the world easily could have been completed by 5:30, the store's closing hour.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

OUR WORLD

The world is not so big, the world so small;
Each owns a little bit, and no one all.
I don't mean own a house or own a lot.
I don't mean rich or poor, or great or not.
For I have figured that a girl and boy
Own just as much of it as they enjoy.
Our world is full of brooks, of birds, of flow'rs;
And, if we love them, all of them are ours.

Across the street there is the nicest tree;
You'll be surprised, but that belongs to me.
Of course, to other folks, it seems to stand
Across the street on other people's land.
And yet I know its leaves are just as green
To me as them, those other folks, I mean;
And, when its flow'rs are pink upon the stem
They're just as pink to me as pink to them.

I don't know where the things I own begin
Or end, for I just take the whole world in.
Like all the dogs, love all the kittens, too.
Own things they own as much as owners do.
Thought someone else may own a dog or cat,
I just enjoy it just as much, at that.
And folks may build a fence their flow'rs about;
But, fence or not, my eyes they can't keep out.

And if I have a thing that's really fine,
I feel that way about such things of mine.
The rich man's garden also is the poor's,
And ev'ry rose of mine is partly yours.
For, after all, who are the truly great?
The rich are people who appreciate;
And men may mark their gardens so and thus,
But all the world belongs to all of us.

Six Delta county students have completed their courses at the Marquette Normal school at the summer term just closed. Those receiving certificates are: Anna Barron, Flat Rock, Elizabeth Leiper, Elsie Krueger and Tillie Watson, of Escanaba and Cecil Robbins and Ione Woolpert, of Wells.

According to reports received last night, Mayor O. P. Chatfield, heading Escanaba's delegation at the Perry celebration in Green Bay, was the victim of pickpockets within ten minutes after he reached Green Bay.

Clifford Roberts miraculously escaped death when he fell from the top of an ore car, at the extreme end of the ore dock, to the water, 90 feet below. He escaped with a few bruises.

Miss Maude Cusson delightfully entertained a group of young women at her home, South Jennie street, at a linen shower in honor of Miss Lillian Harvey, who is to be married on Monday to Walter Hodson, of Milwaukee.

W. B. Linsley, resident superintendent of the Peninsula division of the North Western road, has returned to his home here after receiving a course of treatment for the past 14 weeks at a Chicago hospital.

Under the new state game laws practically every bird hunter in Michigan will be forced to take out a hunting license and pay a fee of $1. While the law provides that hunter may shoot game birds in his home county, without taking out a license, all hunters who travel outside their home county must have a license.

Oscar Anderson, the popular Charlotte street grocer, has returned from Milwaukee where he purchased a new seven passenger Regal automobile and drove the machine the entire distance from Milwaukee to Escanaba.

Naugle Returns to Chicago After Five Weeks' Visit Here

Archie T. Naugle, former head of the Naugle Pole and Tie company, who with his party has been spending the last five weeks at the Delta hotel, left yesterday morning by motor for his home in Chicago.

Mr. Naugle is a former resident of Masonville.

Back in the late eighties and early nineties, his brother, Edw. E. Naugle, was engaged as a cedar buyer in this territory. He formed a partnership with Adam Schaibe and built a shingle mill at Masonville in 1893. Besides manufacturing shingles, the company produced cedar paving blocks, which were used quite extensively two score years ago in the building of city streets. Both Escanaba and Gladstone had streets built of these blocks at that time.

About 1900, Edward E. Naugle became associated with W. H. Holcomb in the Naugle-Holcomb company. About 1910, the Mueller Lumber company of Blanch bought out the company's interests in this section, and two years later the White Marble Lime company acquired the holdings.

While the Naugle concern was operating at Masonville, Archie spent his summer vacations there. After finishing college, he established the Chicago office of the concern. About 1910, Archie Naugle organized the Naugle Pole and Tie company, which he operated for several years until he sold out to a company, headed by Wilbur M. LaFean, who was formerly associated with the National Pole company in Escanaba.

Mr. Naugle came to spend his vacation here this summer, accompanied by his chauffeur, nurse and valet. A Filipino youth, Manuel Manero, who has been a student at the University of Chicago and Northwestern university, is serving as his valet.

The underground railway station at Piccadilly Circus, London, was officially opened on Dec. 10, 1928.

Washington Closeup

By Kirke Simpson

Washington — It must have been a big moment for Senator Bob Wagner of New York when a presidential summons reached him to hurry home and take charge of the national conciliation board.

Having had a big hand in putting through the NRA public works act out of application of which grew the industrial truce project, the senator had set off for an uncharted motor trip in Europe.

He was supremely confident of the success of the NRA plan, but contemplated no hand in its administration.

Quite the contrary. Senator Wagner expected after his vacation to bend his energies to a study of how the thing was working with a view to helping shape permanent laws stabilizing employment to replace the emergency recovery measures of which the NRA and its public works complement are the main stem.

'New Deal' Changes

Actually, the Roosevelt "new deal" envisaged by the President at the time he first used that expression in his campaign is a totally different thing from the emergency recovery set-up. The underlying political philosophy may be the same, but not the details.

What has happened is that out of the banking crisis of last February-March grew the urgent need to extemporize an emergency program. What is now in progress is a heroic-size laboratory test of the "new deal" theories Mr. Roosevelt proclaimed in his campaign.

Upon results of that test will hinge the administration's permanent legislative program which will begin to take shape next winter. It was in that connection that Senator Wagner was shaping his plans when the call for emergency service on the President's national mediation board reached him.

In picking Wagner, Mr. Roosevelt turned to a man well fitted by experience for such a post. Behind him are years of professional legal experience with labor matters that made him a specialist and a recognized friend of labor before he stepped up to the bench to add judicial qualifications to his other characteristics.

Drafted from the bench, where he was serenely happy, to run for the United States senate due to the exigencies of Governor Al Smith's then pending re-election campaign, Wagner came doubtfully to Washington. He found senate life, to his surprise, even more agreeable than the bench once his bent for hard work set him on the road toward making over national policy to stabilize employment.

He discovered in the pre-1929 boom years that an unemployment crisis was indicated on the statistical horizon. His first trio of bills was laughed to scorn.

Ideas Accepted

Yet he has lived to see all his projects, matters of far-seeing theory when he launched them, become vital cogs in the recovery program of the Roosevelt administration, developed on a far grander scale than Wagner had first proposed.

Another thing noteworthy about the Wagner appointment as about many another Roosevelt assignment is that it is virtually non-political. Being German-born the New York senator can have no personal presidential ambitions to cast suspicion upon the motive of his judgments as a mediator.

Among part-time jobs held by Iowa State footballers, waiting on tables for board in men's and women's dormitories is most common.

GIRL IS TAKEN TO COLDWATER

State Assumes Custody of Elaine Plucker, 10, in "Neglect" Case

Another chapter is about to be added to the story of Elaine Plucker, 10 year old Escanaba girl, whose case drew nationwide interest back in December of 1931 when she was publicized as "the piano box girl" and was taken away from the home of her father and step mother following a probate court hearing on charges that she had been neglected.

Elaine

On Dec. 9, 1931, she was made a state ward by Probate Judge Judd Yelland, and T. E. Thorsen of Ironwood, deputy state welfare commissioner, awarded the child, then eight years old, to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Berquist, 1114 Washington avenue, who were among a dozen applicants from five different states. This was under the "direct placement" plan sometimes employed by the state, and during a six months trial period the Berquists were given the privilege of filing for adoption papers at any time.

No adoption papers have been taken, however, and as the girl is still a state charge. Probate Judge Frank Mileski was instructed to have Elaine sent to the state home at Coldwater. Arrangements for this transfer have been made, and the child will leave for Coldwater today with Joseph Lewis of Gladstone, county welfare agent.

The hearing in the Plucker case back in 1931 was one of the most sensational ever known in probate court here, and many neighborhood charges of mistreatment and neglect were heaped on the child's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Plucker, 627 South 15th. The hearing continued until nearly midnight and a packed courtroom attended.

Widow Of Judge R. C. Flannigan Called By Death

Word of the death of Mrs. Richard C. Flannigan, 75, widow of Judge Flannigan, in Colorado Springs, Colo., Saturday morning, has been received here.

The body will be taken to Marquette Tuesday, where funeral services and burial will be made.

Mrs. Flanigan left Norway five years ago following the death of her husband. She went to Colorado Springs to reside with her son, Clement, who died in October, 1932.

Born near Appleton, Wis., Mrs. Flannigan became acquainted with her husband-to-be while they attended school in Marquette, where both families resided. Following their marriage 48 years ago they moved to Norway, where the justice established his law practice and later was elected circuit court judge and then was appointed to the state supreme court.

Mrs. Flannigan was widely known and in addition to her various civic activities enjoyed a reputation as a bird lover. She banded many birds season after season, and many of them returned to her spacious gardens in Norway spring after spring following their winters in the south.

Carl Stockholm, veteran six-day bicycle racer, is operating a pressing concession at the Century of Progress in Chicago this summer.

Mrs. John Moses of St. Jacques is a medical patient.

Mrs. Henry John, 127 Walnut street, Manistique, is a medical patient.

Dorothy Knight of Gladstone is a surgical patient.

Mrs. Clarence Olive, 520 First Avenue south, was admitted.

Pearl Laviolette, 206 South Sixth street, is a surgical patient.

Barbara, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Defnet, submitted to an operation for removal of tonsils Monday afternoon.

Edith Lindberg, George Lindberg and Edward Kinsella of Gladstone were admitted.

Mrs. G. C. Bartley submitted to an operation for removal of tonsils Monday.

AMUSEMENTS

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are teamed again in "Hold Your Man," which shows at the Delft theatre last times today.

As the cheap little drifter who goes to prison for the man she loves, Miss Harlow endows her characterization with a wistful sympathy and humor. Particularly in the incident in which she awakens to approaching motherhood is she effective. Gable banters his way through the early part of the picture with delightful nonchalance.

ROTARY HEARS ABOUT RUSSIA

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jermain Tell of Conditions Under Soviet

The Communists are the new aristocracy of Russia, according to Mrs. George Jermain, wife of the Escanaba mining engineer, who gave a highly interesting talk before the Escanaba Rotary club at the Delta hotel yesterday noon.

The three million members of the Communist party live in the comfortable homes, hold the important positions, and drive around in big automobiles, owned by the government, while 175 millions of Russian people are slaving for them, living on scanty rations and in unhealthful quarters, many of them starving to death, Mrs. Jermain said.

For more than an hour she described conditions in her native land. The daughter of a former Odessa banker, who had been dispossessed of his wealth by the Bolshevists, Mrs. Jermain spoke wonderful English and displayed a wealth of knowledge concerning conditions in that land. She learned English, French and other languages and English literature in a Russian college, and during the last four years served as interpreter for American engineering specialists, including her husband.

Tells of Revolutions

Mrs. Jermain opened her talk by telling the trend of events since the revolution of 1917. She told of the suffering that was endured by the people during the famine years of 1920, 1921 and 1922, and then related that with the establishment of the new economic policy by Lenin in 1923, the hopes of the people were heightened and better conditions were enjoyed. The new economic policy, she explained, again permitted small capitalistic endeavors and allowed the inflow of foreign capital through concessions in mining and other projects.

Since Stalin assumed the reins of government with the death of Lenin, Mrs. Jermain said that the people began to note the change of rule by the iron fist, with secret police watching the activities of people and the Communists accomplishing the complete elimination of the capitalistic class.

Russian Workers Underfed

The youth of Russia were imbued with much enthusiasm during the last several years during which time the industrial plants were being constructed, Mrs. Jermain said. This year, however, marks the crisis in the Communistic experiment, she said, because the operation of mines and mills has proved a failure.

The failure, she said, is due to the starved and undernourished condition of the workers, who are denied sufficient food because of the government's exporting agricultural products in order to exchange for machinery and money from other nations.

The average pay of the Russian worker is 120 rubles per month, she said, but this has only the purchasing power of about three dollars in this country.

There is much ignorance in Russia today, too," she said, "because when the stomach is empty the people cannot think."

She described the rations of black bread and starch-like soup that are given to workers, and also told of the miserable conditions in the workers' barracks, where families are herded together in large numbers, without the comforts of furniture, blankets and other conveniences. Thousands are dying because of neglect, but no one pays any attention for every person is looking out for himself, she said. Mrs. Jermain also stated that about 90 per cent of the workers' children are infected with tuberculosis.

Religion Officially Banned

Religion still exists in Russia, but it is secreted in the hearts of the people, Mrs. Jermain said. She explained that some of the ancient churches still remain, but if the people go to them, they are expelled from their trade unions, and to be expelled from these unions means loss of jobs and also the means of existence.

The hopes of the Communist party are pinned upon recognition of Russia by the United States for that would open the way for loans of money or materials so that the economic program can go on, Mrs. Jermain said.

The speaker expressed the opinion that the Communists would remain in control of Russia for some time yet, due to the fact that the party maintains an efficient secret police system and a strong army. Attempts at revolution are stamped out at the outset, she said.

Mr. Jermain, who spent three and a half years as a mining engineer in Russia, told of conditions in the Soviet mining industry, and explained the main reasons for the economic failure of the five year plan.

Keep Lemons in the Kitchen

Always keep two or three lemons in your kitchen. It's amazing how many ways they can be used to dress up the food you serve.

For instance, one slice of lemon in a cup of clear bouillon gives the soup a tart flavor, and a decorative touch.

Peaches which have been peeled and sliced turn black when exposed a short while. But they won't turn black at all if you sprinkle them with fresh lemon juice as soon as they are sliced.

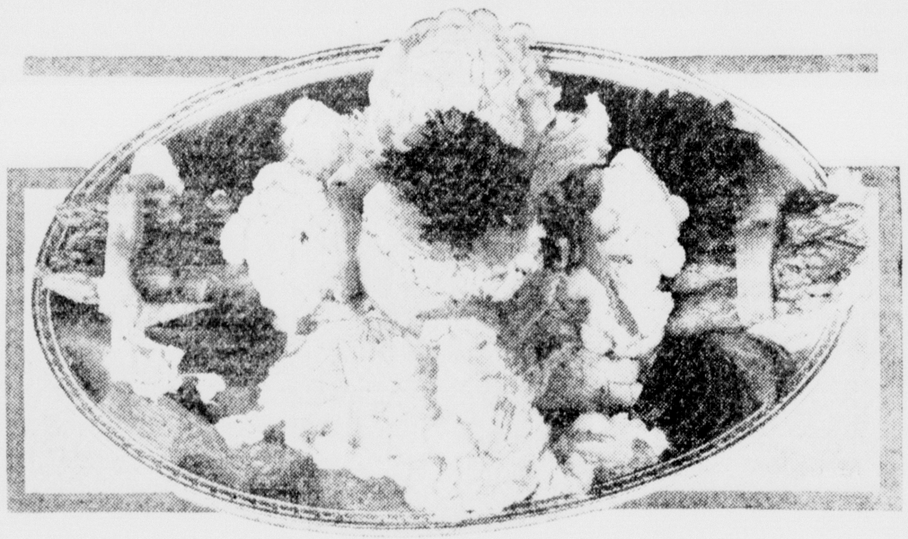
Vegetable Dinner



(From the Half Moon Hotel, Brooklyn, New York)

Cold vegetable plates are about the nicest things you can serve on a hot, midsummer day. Vegetables supply enough nourishment for the body, but do not overtax the stomach.

Vegetable plates are best served on one large platter, placed right on the table. Everybody helps himself. A few fresh vegetables with an appetizing dressing, crisp rolls and some kind of a sweet dessert constitutes a whole meal.

Your lettuce must be crisp and cold. After washing, wrap it in a clean cloth and put it in the icebox until you are ready to prepare the platter of cold vegetables. In this way it is sure to be crisp and fairly dry. Lettuce, dripping with water, will spoil the appearance of the salad and dilute the salad dressing.

If you plan to serve a cold vegetable platter for lunch, get your vegetables all cleaned and cooked in the early hours of the morning before the kitchen gets unbearably hot.

Here's what you'll need for a vegetable luncheon. Other vegetables can, of course, be substituted for the one listed here.

One large tomato, 3 tablespoons of diced chicken and celery salad, 1 large head of cauliflower (quartered), 2 whole beets, 6 fresh asparagus tips, lettuce, sweet pepper and chopped egg for garnish.

On a platter lined with lettuce place a peeled fresh tomato stuffed with diced chicken and celery mixed with a teaspoon of mayonnaise.

At each end put a bundle of three fresh asparagus tips covered with a ring of sweet green pepper. Around the tomato place a fan of sliced beets topped with the quartered cauliflower bouquet. This recipe serves two people adequately.

You can serve vegetable luncheons again and again if you vary the salad dressings from time to time. Here's the way they make a nice dressing at the Half Moon:

Into a bowl put two tablespoons of prepared mayonnaise, one teaspoon of chili sauce, one-fourth teaspoon Worchestershire sauce, and one tablespoon of whipped cream. Stir the ingredients until they are evenly blended and serve ice cold in a bowl.

Administration of the Schick test for diphtheria and the Dick test for scarlet fever is compulsory for all pupils between certain ages in governmental schools of Mexico.

Hollywood Gossip

Hollywood—Barrymore has his profile, Chevalier his lip and Brown his mouth. Clara Bow has her hair and so has Harlow. Durante has his nose and can keep it; and Gable has his eyes. Every Hollywood star has some pet feature.

Joan Blondell has a toe. It's the big toe of her right foot. To it Joan credits the toehold of her career, both literally and figuratively.

Joan's career started when she was very young at the age of four months, in fact, when her parents carried her on the stage. The year sned by and after her schooling Joan plunged into theatrical work. She played tank towns here, there and in Australia, split weeks in Germany and one-night stands in China.

A SORE TOE

Then came the toe incident. Joan was on Broadway very broke. She heard that Al Woods, the producer was signing people for a new show, so she hurried to his office. She couldn't hurry there too fast—but there was a sore toe.

The toe delayed Joan. She finally arrived and was told to wait. The toe continued to hurt and Joan continued to wait.

The toe won and Joan took off her shoe, and then her stocking. She felt relieved and propped her foot on a desk. When Producer Woods rushed from his office, he halted short at the sight of a blond girl with a bare foot sticking high over the ink well.

"What's the idea?" he asked. "Sore toe. It hurts," came the answer.

"Let me look at it," said the busy showman. "Hmm. It's pretty bad," said he, reaching for something in the medicine cabinet.

SHE GOT THE JOB

The girl's frank attitude struck Wood's fancy, whereupon he asked her if she would like a job. She took it—that of the stuttering showgirl in the Chicago company of "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

That proved to be the turning point in her career. Joan's second show after that was "Penny Arcade," which the movies bought, bringing her and another member of the cast to Hollywood to play in it. The other comparative unknown was James Cagney.

All this accounts for the reason why Joan has transposed the expression "toe that mark" to "mark that toe."

State Fair 4-H Champions Enjoy Greenfield Visit

Maude Olsen of Sands, Mich., describes Greenfield Village at Dearborn, as one of the interesting stops in the Upper Peninsula State Fair's Michigan tour, the award to six girls who won 4-H championships at the 1932 fair.

Her letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Harvey,

"I am writing to tell you how much I enjoyed the auto tour through lower Michigan. One of the things I found most interesting was Henry Ford's Greenfield Village at Dearborn.

"We first secured our tickets and then went through the museum. Upon entering the museum the first thing the guide showed us was a large square of cement where on Sept. 27, 1928, Thomas Edison put his footprint and wrote his name. We saw a suite of furniture that belonged to Abe Lincoln, desks belonging to General Grant and Longfellow, a chair of Francis Scott Key's and many other beautiful pieces of antique furniture.

"Different types of machinery used years ago and some of the first automobiles made were exhibited.

"We returned to the waiting room and took a real stage coach to Clinton Inn. After reading so many stories of the days when stage coaches were one of the few means of traveling, here we were going to a typical hostelry of 100 years ago on a stage coach! This historic inn stood in Clinton, Michigan, until it was removed to its present location. It is furnished in the style of the early days.

"We visited the Chapel Martha-Mary which is named after the mothers of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford. We then went to the Scotch settlement school. On the first day of school after it was removed to its present site, Mr. Ford and his seat mate again sat in their old corner and inscribed their initials on the desk. From there we went to the Lincoln Court House of Logan County, Ill., where for eight years Lincoln practiced law. There were many other interesting buildings such as Town Hall, Country Store, Livery Stable, Long House of Michigan pioneer days, Greenfield post office, tintype studio, and other shops. We also saw some of Edison's laboratory shed containing the first electric locomotive and a boarding house where Edison and his men stayed for a few years. It was the first house to have electric lights. We returned on a stage coach to the waiting room and went to Dearborn Inn for lunch.

"On our way down state we stopped at Cross Village near Mackinaw City. The old Indian here showed us where Father Marquette had come across the water and many interesting things of the times of the pioneers. We had our picture taken with him.

"I spent one of the most enjoyable weeks in my life on this trip and I wish to thank you for helping to make such a trip possible.

"A 4-H Friend,
"Maude Olsen."

TELLS OF VALUE OF RECREATION

Raymond Kegel, Co-Director at Playground, Rotary Speaker

The values of playground activity and especially of supervised play were related in an interesting manner before the Gladstone Rotary club at the weekly luncheon meeting yesterday noon by Raymond Kegel, co-director of the local school playground. Jas. T. Jones, chairman of the boys' work committee, who introduced the speaker, gave a brief and concise history of what had been done along these lines for Gladstone children.

After citing various causes which contributed to the development of the playground movement, Mr. Kegel presented a brief history of organized recreation in the United States.

What is said to have been the first supervised playground in the country was a sand garden established in 1886 in Boston, Mass., by the Massachusetts Emergency and Hygiene association. The movement grew in Boston until but a short three years later 21 playgrounds of this type had been developed. Meanwhile Chicago established its first playground in connection with Hull House. New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and other cities followed and the next 20 years saw rapid development of the movement, characterized by construction of small parks and squares equipped with outdoor gymnastic apparatus, ball diamonds, and athletic fields.

"Today," the speaker continued, "the schools of Physical Education, realizing the importance of organized play, have incorporated in their curriculum, courses in playground work."

Benefits are Many

Recreative play develops the child both physically and mentally, Mr. Kegel stated, and also helps to develop character. Character forming values of play, which were defined as fundamental values, were delineated as courtesy, self-discipline through obedience to law, loyalty, appreciation of value of team work, courage, justice, unselfishness, generosity, Honesty, perseverance and tolerance.

Play also exercises a major influence on social qualities which affect the individual as a member of a group," the speaker stated. "in that it prevents mischief and vice by giving helpful expression to motor restlessness and new interests to occupy the mind. It also turns gang spirit into channels of helpfulness." Juvenile court records in a number of cities offer conclusive proof of the benefits of recreation, in one city the court having been abolished entirely after the playgrounds had been established and properly administered.

What had been done to provide recreational facilities for children here since the days when the speaker was a boy, was recounted, and a number of suggestions were made for further improvement of the local playground.

In closing Mr. Kegel quoted the following words of the late Calvin Coolidge: "I wish to see all Americans have a reasonable amount of leisure. I want to see them educated to use such leisure for their own enjoyment and betterment and the strengthening of the quality of their citizenship. We must make America a land of vision, a land of work; of sincere striving for the good, but we must add to all those in order to round out the full stature of the people, an ample effort to make it a land of wholesome enjoyment and perennial gladness."

Planned 50 Years Ago

St. Ignace—A time-yellowed print of a bridge spanning the Straits of Mackinac is in the possession of Elsed Latondress.

It shows a bridge of the suspension type spanning a river thick with traffic, while on each side is a thriving town. Above the bridge are the words "A Glimpse of the Future" and below is the legend "Proposed Bridge Across the Straits of Mackinac."

Mr. Latondress found the print while rummaging in an old trunk. It was printed on course wrapping paper, put out by the People's Store, now long since gone, and owned at that time by William Saulsen. The paper also contains advertising matter scattered about the picture of the bridge in the center. The People's Store was near the St. Ignace Hotel on State street.

Adam McGregor, a pioneer resident of St. Ignace, said that it is at least 50 years since Saulsen operated the People's Store here.

Those New Ideas In Economics

Finding Money for Higher Wages Under the "Blue Eagle"

BY J. R. BRACKETT

New York (AP)—Where does the extra money come from to pay the increased wages scheduled under the NRA?

At the beginning of the program all the money of the country was distributed among all the people in certain proportions. By increasing wage payments, the proportion held by workers would be increased, but how can both business men and earners expect to have more money after the NRA program has run its course?

Increasing Credit

The process, according to the theory of the plan's adherents, works something like this:

1. The business man may not increase profits immediately; may in fact, have smaller profits because higher wages will increase his costs.

2. But, in transferring money to wage earners who are likely to spend it rapidly for necessities, there is an increase in business activity.

3. An increase in business activity almost automatically increases the use of credit, and more credit increases the amount of money and bank deposits. A bank has deposits of $100,000. Its merchants find they need additional funds to buy goods. The bank lends, say, $25,000 which the merchants redeposit, increasing the bank's deposits to $125,000. Other credit operations work in similar fashion to increase the amount of bank deposits, which are used as money.

The merchant who increases wages now is, in a manner of speaking, anticipating future profits. So long as business activity increases, business men need to borrow money, and this money is spent in checks to pay wages and expenses.

Backed by Goods

This creation of bank deposits through borrowing does not mean that the money so created is fictitious in value. It is supported by an actual increase in the quantity of goods produced in the country, and by the demand for those goods. Of course, if activity declines the business man may be forced to pay his debts with the result that his deposit in the bank will be smaller.

Economists differ as to whether more money must be created continuously through credit to insure business profits, and whether inevitably such a credit structure must collapse. Some believe that by keeping the money moving rapidly a measure of stability may be obtained.

What he found was a fake fin, which he is shown holding.

The Manistique and Newberry clubs played a thrilling 18-18 tie at the Indian Lake Golf course on Sunday afternoon, with Newberry holding a 15 1-2 to 14 1-2 lead until returns were made on the final foursome. Bob Giffen and James C. Wood placing Manistique into a tie when they secured an advantage of one point over Newsomme and Meyers of Newberry.

Hit and Run Driver Gets 30-Day Term

Ben Beaver, local Indian, driver of the car which crashed into an automobile belonging to George Barton, at the corner of Arbutus and Range street a week ago Sunday, and then fled from the scene of the accident, gave himself up to justice Sunday and was given a 30-day sentence in the county jail when arraigned before Justice W. G. Stephens yesterday morning on a charge of fleeing from an accident.

Beaver, who had been living at Seney during the past week, told the court that he was so intoxicated that he could remember nothing of driving the car and also had a complete lapse of memory concerning the accident in which he drove through a stop sign and crashed into the Barton car with such force as to turn it over. Beaver stated that he had not driven a car for several years since his driver's license had expired.

In sentencing Beaver, Justice Stephens told him that the offense was a most serious one and that it could not be taken too lightly. Beaver, he said, could have been arraigned on three distinct charges.

Two Plead Guilty To Game Violation

Fred Sova and Robert Gould each chose a ten-day jail sentence in preference to paying costs of $8.50 each when they pleaded guilty to carrying loaded firearms into an area frequented by large and small animals without a permit and when there was no open season thereon. BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Despite a long week-end, the stock market emerged today sleepy-eyed and fatigued barely able to drag itself along in another dull and listless session.

Interest in acquiring stocks seemed to be negligible, and the list, as a whole, dropped fractions to around a point. The so-called "wet" shares, as well as the gold issues, were more alert than the rest, closing steady. Bonds were irregular in a narrow and sluggish market and the dollar showed a firm tone in foreign exchange dealings. Most commodities were fairly steady.

With the tape inching its way along laboriously throughout the entire day, transfers totaled only 1,222,280 shares. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 90 selected stocks showed a net decline of one point.

A general leveling off process apparently was indicated by reports from some of the basic trade centers. Steel production, as estimated by the magazine "Steel," remained unchanged, with new buying retarded by uncertainties surrounding the industry's code and its possible effect on future costs. The department of commerce in its latest report—for the week ended August 5—found business activity showing a moderate recession, although this was attributed in part to seasonal influences.

In the share market some of the gold stocks were in moderate demand as a result of the government's ruling that gold concentrates might be exported. This means that American companies, heretofore limited to the domestic market with its fixed legal price of $20.67 per ounce, can tap the world market at London where refined gold is quoted around $30 an ounce.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Aug. 14—As idle as a proverbial painted ship upon a painted ocean, the Chicago grain trade today nervously watched business go out of this country to Canada. Prices here became meaningless.
Owing to an emergency fixed absolute minimum grain price limit which could not be removed until after the close of trading hours tomorrow, buying power here refused to assert itself, and sellers could find no outlet except at Winnipeg. Complicating the situation, which largely grew out of financial difficulties two weeks ago on the part of a New York trader whose holdings of grain and other commodities, as well as securities, totaled far up into millions of dollars, was the fact that Washington officials had disapproved a national code for grain exchanges.
Borne down by liquidating pressure from this country, Winnipeg wheat values tumbled 5¼ cents a bushel, but later recovered about half of the loss. Chicago trading both in grain and provisions was too small even to make a range of prices.
Interest of grain traders centered on meetings to be held before tomorrow's removal of absolute minimum price levels would take effect.
Corn traders had reports of a second brood of chinch bugs in enormous numbers threatening Illinois fields already promising hardly half a crop.
Provision dealings were at a standstill with grains.

Curb Mart Falls Into Dull Trading

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The curb market slumped off in dull trading today for losses of fractions to around 2 points or so before staging a moderate recovery in the final hour.
Mining issues closed comparatively steady while alcohol shares after easing major fractions to more than 2 points, rallied smartly in the late trading. Schenley Distillers cancelled a 1½ point loss to show an equivalent net advance.
Utilities were a trifle heavy with scattered improvement occurring late in the day. Oils closed steady to slightly lower. Other losses of a point or more were shown in Aluminum Company of America, Gulf Oil, Parker Rust Proof, and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore.
Transfers approximated 233,000 shares compared with 243,000 for last Friday.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Indifferent trading marked today's proceedings in the bond market and prices generally displayed a sagging tendency.
Sales totaled only $8,645,000, par value, slightly less than last Friday's aggregate, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans declined three-tenths of a point.
Secondary rail liens probably were the heaviest of the various groups, although some utility and industrial specialties were under pressure at one time or another. Recessions generally were attributed largely to uncertainties surrounding the grain situation at Chicago and to sympathy with stocks.
United States government securities were fairly steady and quiet. Foreign obligations moved irregularly. Some of the French, Argentines and Germans got up 1 to about 2 points. Two of the German General Electric issues dropped around 4 points each and British 5½s, the most active of the foreign group, were easier.

Steamer Reported Grounded In Fog

Quebec, Aug. 12 (AP)—The steamer North Shore, with Monsignor Andre Cassulo, Papal delegate and other Catholic officials aboard, was reported to have struck a reef tonight and grounded in the fog 235 miles east of Quebec on the north shore of Gaspe Peninsula.
The report said that all passengers and members of the crew were safe, and that aid was being rushed to the ship. Further details were lacking.

One can see herds of giraffes, elephants, zebra, antelope and other wild animals from the windows of luxurious trains on the Uganda railroad of East Africa.

The White House was originally painted white to hide the marks of fire on the walls, which were all that remained standing after the British had burned it in 1814.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Don't let the children know it, but I got a raise today."

For the LOVE OF EVE
by Lucy Walling
© 1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Eve was anxious not to give Dick any cause to resent her work. She suspected that secretly he cherished an ideal of a home-keeping wife who would be watching for him at the window when he came each evening. Dick's work kept him outdoors much of the time and he always arrived with a healthy appetite. Eve seldom was ready for dinner before seven. This evening it was nearly eight, but Dick did not complain.
Saturday night came and the hotel held its weekly dinner dance. Eve wore the gown of pale gold lace that she had worn on her visit to the night club in New York with Theron Reece.
As she turned from the mirror she called to Dick: "I'm so happy, dear! I think this is the most adorable place to live. And I love dressing for dinner."
"It would be nice if we could stay on here," Dick agreed. "But I suppose since tomorrow is Sunday we can drive around and try to locate a place to settle in."

* * *

Something froze in Eve. She asked ever so quietly, what Dick's plans were.
"We'll have to find a place within my income," he told her.
"But we have two incomes!"
"We're not counting on anything you may earn," Dick announced with finality. "Your money is yours to do with as you please. If I were you I'd bank that money. You may do as you like, however. I'll never question you about it. But I am going to support our homes on my income and I will endeavor to add to our savings each payday."
Eve was not in the most pleasant frame of mind as they descended to the dining room. She had been enjoying the luxury of the past week and saw no reason why she and Dick should not combine their incomes and continue this mode of living which, she felt, would leave them free from the petty cares of the average young married couple.
"Dick," she began after the waiter took their order, "I don't want to argue but it seems only fair to remind you that we agreed marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition. So I want to pay my share."
"Successful marriage is always a fifty-fifty proposition," Dick agreed. "But that doesn't necessarily apply to finances the way you mean. I should say it is important for each always to meet the other half way. What I mean is, turn for turn and fair play."
Eve recalled Dick's noncommittal "M-m," each time she had thought she had scored a victory.
She took her cue and said, "Let's have a marriage free from quarrels, too, Dick. Each of us will always think of the other's side of the question, won't we?"
"That's the only kind of a marriage I will have," he answered with emphasis.
Eve was determined to enjoy the present and let no future take care of itself. No need to hurry in locating another apartment. She would meet that unpleasant contingency when it arrived.
So she smiled brightly and said, "In the meantime on with the dance."

They danced between courses. It was not until after they had finished dinner that Eve saw Theron Reece.
He had just entered the dining room with a vavacious looking girl. The couple lost no time in getting on the dance floor. Reece's glance swept the restaurant and he saw Eve at once. She looked away but the crowd was not large and before the dance was concluded she was forced to return Reece's nod of recognition. Evidently he was determined to continue their acquaintance. A shadow of apprehension clouded Eve's sky. She hoped Reece had not noticed her wedding ring.
"Let's go now, Dick," she said when they returned to their table. He agreed without asking any questions.
But Reece was not to be disposed of so readily. He approached, bowing, and said, "Good evening, Miss Bayless."
Eve felt a sudden panic but managed to introduce the men without disclosing the fact that Dick was her husband. Before Reece could begin conversation she arose for another dance with Dick.
After all, she reasoned, it was not strange that Reece should be there. Much business was conducted between Lake City and Cincinnati and Reece, a salesman, lived in the latter place. The marine dining room of the Hotel Miramar was an attractive restaurant and it was natural for him to dine there. But Eve felt she wanted to leave the Miramar before her joy was spoiled.
So she said to Dick, "I think, darling, it might be fun to look for an apartment tomorrow. We will get up early and not lose any time."

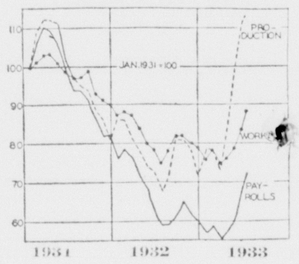
If you were to send a postal card to the thousands of readers of the Daily Press, it would very quickly amount to a neat sum. One insertion of a minimum of three lines costs only 36c. Isn't that inexpensive for such a dependable service?

WHY NRA CODES WERE NEEDED



This chart, prepared by Col. Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Trust Co., shows graphically just why the sudden need for adoption of blanket codes. Note how, in mid-1933, production leaped suddenly, though the number of workers employed did not increase in proportion, and payrolls lagged even farther behind. The blanket codes are the effort to bring employment and payrolls up in proportion to production.

Foxx Drives in Nine Runs As A's Beat Indians

NEW AMERICAN RECORD IS SET

Philadelphia Captures Series Opener by 11-5 Score

Cleveland, Aug. 14 (AP)—Slashing out a home run, triple, double, and single to drive in nine runs for a new American league record, Jimmie Foxx today led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 11 to 5 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the Mackmen's first game of their last western invasion.

Foxx opened his one-man attack in the first inning, hitting a triple with Roger Cramer and Mickey Cochrane on the bases, and then followed up that blast with his 35th home run of the season in the second with all of the sacks occupied.

On his third appearance at the plate in the fourth inning, the A's first baseman connected with a double, again sending Cochrane across the plate. A single in the sixth with Eric McNair and Cramer on the bases scored two more runs and gave Foxx his new record. He struck out on last time at bat.

The old mark of eight runs batted in was set by Topsy Hartzell of the Yankees, in 1911 and has since been equalled by Harry Heilmann, Lou Gehrig, Carl Reynlds and Earl Averill. Foxx's performance left him still three short of the major league record of 12 made by Jim Bottomley, of the Cardinals, in 1924.

Paper Makers Cop Twin Bill; Barkers Win from Munising

Manistique, Aug. 14. (Special)—The Escanaba Paper Makers copped both ends of their double bill here Sunday afternoon in diamond ball contests by easily defeating the Norton Specials and Barker Bakers. The Bakers, however, split even in the afternoon's play by handing the Munising Swedes a beating in a game sandwiched between the other two.

Letty Greenless, hurling for the Paper Makers against Nortons, was in superb form, and only in the sixth frame after his team had established a 10-0 lead, did the Nortons connect effectively with his offerings. Three hits and a walk were good for a trio of runs, the total of the locals' scoring for the day. After the dust settled on the encounter the score was 11-3.

Hits were well scattered among the Nortons, no two players obtaining more than one safety. Perle, Roman, Anderson, and Rockberg, led the Escanaba offense with two blows apiece.

Gehrig Will Break Record On Thursday

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Barring a postponement, Lou Gehrig will establish a new major league consecutive games record when the Yankees meet the Browns in St. Louis Thursday.

The Yankee first baseman played his 1,305th straight game in Washington yesterday and is due to equal Everett Scott's mark of 1,307 in St. Louis Wednesday, and pass it on Thursday.

U. P. Briefs

Has Second Operation

Menominee—It became necessary for Miss Mary Louise Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Finn, Liberty street, to submit to another operation Friday in an Evanston, Ill., hospital, where she has been a patient for a number of weeks.

The original wound, hastily attended immediately after the accident, had to be reopened Friday and twelve stitches taken, entailing greater suffering than during the first operation.

Beer Permit Restored

Norway—Louis Van Wolvelaere who conducts the Norway Rialto bowling alleys and whose temporary beer license was revoked by order of the state liquor commission upon the recommendation of Inspector Edward Cameron, of Trout Lake, has been reinstated by Inspector Sam Jacobs, of Iron Mountain, in charge of this district, and a second license issued to him.

Cameron inspected the premises and found that Van Wolvelaere could not serve meals as required under the terms of the permit. Cameron, transferred from this district since the time of that inspection, came here to take the temporary permit from Van Wolvelaere.

Wolvelaere immediately installed restaurant equipment and after an inspection by Jacobs, who took over this district after Cameron was transferred, was granted a license.

DETROIT COPS SERIES OPENER

Boston Falls to Tigers Monday; Final Score Is 6 to 5

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP)—One big inning, the seventh, in which the Tigers batted around and got six hits and four runs, gave Detroit a 6 to 5 victory over Boston in a hard fought series opener here today.

Elden Auker, recently brought up from Beaumont, made his debut as a starting pitcher for the Tigers but lasted only three innings, during which Boston got seven hits and four runs. Carl Fischer and Elon Hogsett followed the recruit on the mound. The Sox also used three pitchers, Pipgras giving way to Brown in the big seventh inning attack. He was little more effective and Welch was called upon to finish the game.

The Tigers got away to a two-run lead in the first inning when Gehringer hit a home run with Fox on the paths. Boston, however, evened it up in the second on singles by McManus, Pipgras and Werber and an error on Doljack, then took a two-run lead in the third on singles by Ferrell and Judge, followed by a double by McManus.

With Pipgras pitching effective ball, the lead loomed large until the seventh. Then Owen singled and so did a pair of pinch batters, White and Walker. That was when Pipgras left the game, and Rogell greeted Brown with a double. Fox' single brought in the last Tiger run. Gehringer's single didn't figure in the scoring.

Hodapp, pinch batting for Judge in the ninth, delivered a home run but it still left the Sox one run short of a tie and they couldn't close the gap.

Seven events are scheduled in this program of competition arranged by Joel Olson, life guard and supervisor at the beach. Three prizes will be awarded in each event, with gold, silver and bronze medals for the boys and gold, silver and bronze pins for the girls. Daily instruction is being held at 2:30 p. m. to give prospective contestants pointers on the rules of the races and dives.

The list of events include: 25 yard free style race for boys 12 years old and under; 50 yard free style for boys 13 and 14 years; 100 yard free style for boys 15 to 18; 100 yard free style for boys of 18 and over; fancy diving, four required—plain front dive, plain back dive, front jack-knife, back jack-knife, four optional dives.

For girls, there will be a 50 yard free style race for the ages of 15 to 18 years and fancy diving, with four dives required.

Entry blanks will be printed on the sport page of the Daily Press from time to time, and should be filled in and turned over to Mr. Olson at the beach or the sports editor at the Press office.

Golfer Scores Deliberate Ace Before Corwd

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jack Hagen, who has been living 53 years and playing most of them, today pulled off that "20,000 to 1 shot" most golfers dream about—a deliberately hit hole-in-one on the fly.

Inaugurating the second annual world-telegram hole-in-one tournament, Hagen stepped to the number three tee of the Salisbury country club course and on his third attempt sent the ball flying 148 yards true to the grassy rim of the cup.

Theoretically, of course, every golfer is aiming for the cup when he takes his lick on the short holes, but it was the first time on record that a player had done it with a gallery looking on and in a tournament for only that purpose.

Hagen was so stunned by the feat—despite his boast beforehand that he was going to send the tournament away to a good start by holing his first shot—that he was speechless for a moment.

He is the general superintendent of the Salisbury club and designed the hole, called the "pulpit" because of the plateau green, on which he made his "ace."

It was not a new experience for Hagen as he has two other "aces" to his credit, his first made 25 years ago at Bernardsville, N. J., and his second in 1930 on the fifth hole at Salisbury. He used the same club today, a No. 7 iron, or spade, which he used in scoring his hole-in-one three years ago.

Heavy Showers At Newport Postpone Casino Tournament

Newport, R. I., Aug. 14. (AP)—A series of heavy showers today balked the optimistic officials of the Newport Casino tennis tournament, who planned to run off 50 matches on the opening day to retain control over their bulky field of 82, which included Ellsworth Vines, national and defending titlist, and 15 other members of America's first 17 ranking court stars.

The first starters, Henry Prusoff of Seattle, and John Ray of Cambridge, Mass., a member of the Harvard tennis team, managed to get through one set, which the westerner won by a 6-1 margin. They will resume from that point tomorrow, when the rest of the field will get under way.

Vines, who has not engaged in singles competition since he collapsed against Frederick J. Perry, hero of England's Davis cup victory in the inter-zone finals, was due to go into action against the veteran Fred Russel Dana, Pawtucket, whose Newport competition record covers more than 20 years.

Cardinals Wallop Rochester, 7 to 1

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Rochester Red Wings of the International League in an exhibition game here today, 7 to 1, after the Red Wings had bowed to Albany, 5 to 2, in a regular league game.

SITE FOR RACE IS NOT DECIDED

St. Clair River Likely To Be Chosen for Harmsworth

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP)—Otto E. Barthel, an officer of the Yachtsmen's Association of America and a member of the International Harmsworth commission, said tonight it was probable this year's Harmsworth race would be run on the St. Clair river at Algonac instead of on Lake St. Clair.

He added, however, that it was uncertain when a definite decision would be reached and that the Y. A. A. wished to hear from Hubert Scott-Paine, the British challenger for the trophy held by Gar Wood, before taking any action. An effort might be made, he said, to talk with Scott-Paine by ocean telephone within a day or so unless word from him is received. The challenger is enroute to Montreal.

Conference Held

The Detroit city council today invited Y. A. A. representatives and the gold cup committee to a conference tomorrow at which an offer of financial aid probably will be extended in an effort to keep the race here. Y. A. A. officials did not appear impressed tonight with the prospects.

It seemed tonight, following a conference of Y. A. A. and Gold Cup committee members with Barthel, that the Harmsworth commission would be called upon to decide the race course.

Until that conference, Barthel had held to the same opinion expressed by Harry B. Greening, Hamilton, Ont., British member of the commission, that under Rule 5 of the Harmsworth deed of gift, it was up to the Y. A. A. to name the course.

Later, however, he said he had swung to the opinion expressed by W. D. Edenburn, of the Y. A. A., that since the Y. A. A. already had tendered the Lake St. Clair course, the shift of the St. Clair river course would have to be authorized by the commission under Rule 15. If that finding were adhered to, Greening would have have two out of the three votes on the course, since he represents both the Royal Motor Yacht club and the Harmsworth estate, donor of the trophy.

Barthel said it was doubtful if any effort would be made to communicate with Scott-Paine until he lands in Montreal, Thursday or Friday.

VETERANS LOSE BUT GIVE SCARE

Old Timers Drop Game to Escanaba City Team, 15 to 7

Given a thorough scare for over seven innings, the Escanaba City team finally defeated the Old Timers, 15 to 7, as the result of a seven run uprising in the eighth inning Sunday afternoon.

The Old Timers faltered for a time in the third inning when the city team scored six runs after two were out but the veterans came back with renewed vigor, and brought the count up to 8 to 7 in the eighth frame when Van Effen who suffered an injured back lost his effectiveness and was driven off the hill. Mike Walch finished the inning for the old timers.

The old timers without any previous practice sessions looked good at times against the city team and Manager Deroulin and the boys figure that given another chance and a little more practice they will be able to defeat the Escanaba club.

In regard to the challenge of the Gladstone old timers, Pete Deroulin, Escanaba old timers boss, said yesterday, "We'll take on the Gladstone veterans anytime, anywhere". Efforts are being made to arrange a game between the veterans from the two towns.

A good crowd of fans was on hand to see the teams perform Sunday.

The summary:

Sarazen Is Ranked As Challenger For World's Golf Title

New York, Aug. 14. (AP)—Gene Sarazen's victory in the Professional Golfers' association championship assures the prospect of a triangular "world championship" match in Miami, Florida, this coming Winter among the leading three tournament winners of 1933.

Invitations already have been extended to Denny Shute and Johnny Goodman, respective winners of the British and American open championships, to play a 72-hole special match on the course of the Miami-Biltmore club where Sarazen is attached as head of the professional staff. By collecting the last American title available for him this year Gene automatically qualifies as a challenger in any contest among the crowned heads of golf.

This will give Sarazen a chance to defend the winter honors he gained last February when, as the holder of both British and American titles, he swamped Olin Dutra then the P. G. A. titleholder, by 11 and 10 in a 72-hole match with successive rounds of 67-68-67.

The youngster will take Manager Charley Grimm's place on the initial sack. Grimm going to the bench to confine his efforts to directing the Cubs in their drive for the pennant.

New York, Aug. 14. (AP)—The defending champion, the British titleholder and the girl who beat the Prince of Wales, were among the record total of 119 British and American golf stars announced today as entered for the national women's championship at Chicago Aug. 28-Sept. 2.

Only Glenna Collett Vare, five times winner of the title, is missing from the record field which includes Virginia Van Wie, the 1932 winner, Enid Wilson, the British titleholder, Beatrice Gottlieb, who recently defeated his royal highness in an 18-hole match, and all the top-flight American stars.

RAIN POSTPONES TOURNEY START

Women's National Net Meet Gets Under Way Today

BY GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—While overcast skies and occasional flurries of rain prevented the scheduled start of the women's national tennis tournament today, Helen Jacobs, the champion, sat in her suite overlooking the courts of the west side tennis club—nervous as a school girl about to recite at the weekly exercises.

A thing like that shouldn't cause Helen to get the fidgets. She's been playing tournament tennis for a decade, since she was 15, and the thrill long since should be passed. Even the thought of winning another title, or at least getting another shot at her old rival, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, should present no emotional strain to the California girl.

Attack of "Nerves"

But she had a slight attack of "nerves," and admitted it.

"Do you think I'll look all right?" she asked, hopefully. "Gee, I hope so. I talked to mother by phone out on the coast a while ago and she said it was all right. Don't you think they are nice? Do you see why anybody should object?"

What Helen was talking about was her planned debut in shorts. She's been wearing 'em in practice for several days and tomorrow, if the sun shines, she will begin the defense of her title in the scantiest attire ever worn by a queen of American tennis. She's enthused at the idea.

With the entire first round of singles postponed until tomorrow, setting the entire tournament up a day and placing the finals on Sunday or Monday, the only business of note today was the pairing of the doubles.

Seeded No. 1 was the team of Mrs. Moody and the veteran Mrs. Elizabeth Ryan. Miss Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey of Boston, defending champions, were seeded second in the domestic list, with the Misses Round and Heeley topping the foreign threats.

Pittsburgh Beats Yanks In Exhibition

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—With Waite Hoyt holding his former teammates to five scattered hits, the Pittsburgh Pirates today pounded out a 10 to 2 decision over the New York Yankees in an exhibition game played before a crowd of 10,000.

The Pirates, with 11 hits off Walter Brown, bunched their attack in the fourth and seventh innings. Seven hits and two bases on balls gave the Corsairs seven runs in the fourth inning. In the seventh Gus Suhr sent three more runs across the plate, hitting a home run with Floyd Vaughan and Pie Traynor on the bases. Charlie Devens pitched to the Pirates in the eighth and retired them in order.

NRA ADVISORY GROUP MEETS

Survey of Employment and Wage Increases To Be Made

The Escanaba advisory committee of the National Recovery Administration held its first meeting at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce yesterday for a study of the general outlines of the NRA program.

It was decided to send a questionaire to the employers in the city to determine to what extent employment and payrolls have been increased.

One of the functions of the committee will be to investigate cases of non-conformance with the provisions of the NRA program. Persons knowing of employers, displaying the "Blue Eagle" insignia but not abiding by the rules, are asked to write a signed letter to the advisory committee, National Recovery Administration, Escanaba.

Members of the committee attending the meeting yesterday included Carl J. Sawyer, H. D. Brackett, H. F. Anderson, Adrienne Tousignant, Mrs. H. I. Davies, C. C. Stephenson, Charles E. Lewis, L. A. Danielson, W. J. Duchaine, Matt Petersen, George G. Geniesse and Harold P. Lindsay.

Employers wishing to sign the president's re-employment agreement, but who are in doubt concerning some of its provisions, may obtain information concerning the program from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office.

FORTY YEARS

Piece of Flooring Tells of Past in Escanaba

From a piece of hard maple flooring nailed in place 40 years ago there came yesterday a message from Escanaba's past, written by a carpenter who had an appreciation for things historical.

The section of flooring, three feet long, was brought to the Press office Monday morning by Grover Lewis after it had been torn up in a floor replacement at one of his houses, 511 Second avenue south, known in the past as the Charles Brotherton house. As preparations were being made to saw the old flooring up into wood, it was noticed that one of the pieces had considerable pencil-writing on the under side, and from that comes the story and its coincidences.

Here is what the "handwriting on the floor" says:

"Put down this floor on Apr. 19—1893 the year of the Worlds Fair at Chicago, had 2 kegs of beer on the job."

"Escanaba has now 10,000 population"

"Whoever takes up this floor if any of the parties whose name is on this board please take this board to them as they will be pleased to see it and tell him to look the rest of the fellows up and write to them.

Michigan's Coal Industry Hard Hit By Price Cutting

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP)—The recovery administration today was told that "vicious competition from below the Ohio River" was responsible for the poor condition of Michigan's bituminous coal industry.

Warren E. Pippen, of Saginaw, representing the Michigan Coal Operators' Association at the administration's hearings on a code for the soft coal industry, asked that the southern district wage scale be brought up to the level of northern scales.

"We are told that raising the standard of living in the south will ruin industry," he said. "If it is only through slavery that industry can exist, it is time for a change."

"In Michigan we are idle because our nearest competitor, Ohio, has been drawn down into this maelstrom of wage cutting. With the vicious competition from below the Ohio river, Ohio fell, and eventually Michigan fell."

Nearly 17,000,000 tons of shipping are handled annually by the principal ports of the Rhine river.

Escanaba Legion Seeks State Convention for 1935
